MESSAGE FROM THE EAST:

Dear Brethren,

I hope everyone enjoyed their Memorial Day weekend. We have a big month ahead of us, including the initiation of a new brother on June 12th at 6:00 pm, as well as our Stated meeting on June 17th and Table Lodge on June 24th. I would encourage my Brothers to attend the degree on the 12th. You do not have to participate in the ritual of the Entered Apprentice degree, but it is always good to show support for a candidate as he is brought into the Fraternity, to see a degree conferred on an individual, and to relive the beginning of a journey that we all have taken.

At our June Stated, I would appreciate the brethren assembling in the Lodge room around 6:30 p.m. for our Eagle Scout recognition program; we will be presenting Grand Master Certificates to some worthy Eagle Scouts. At our June Stated, RW Bill Baskerville will give a presentation on the US flag in recognition of Flag Day. I am excited about the upcoming Table Lodge to celebrate St. John the Baptist Day and hope to see a good turnout. We will have some speakers, some toasts and a great time of brotherhood and fellowship. This is open to all Entered Apprentices, Fellow Crafts and Master Masons.

I hope all the brothers can make an effort to attend all of the functions and lend a hand if their cable tow will allow! I look forward to seeing everyone.

S&F,

Worshipful Jason Parham

Eternal Cycles of Life

The operative Masons chose the two Saints John as patron Saints because one prepared the way, or as they said, laid the foundation of our spiritual Temple, and the other builded thereon, or as an old ritual has it, "One finished by his learning what the other began by his zeal, and thus drew a second line parallel to the former."

Brother Albert Mackey comments: "We are thus led to the conclusion that the connection of the Saints John with the Masonic Institution is rather of a symbolic than of a historical character. In dedicating our Lodge to them, we do not so much declare our belief that they eminent members of the Order, as demonstrated our reverence for the great Architect of the Universe in the symbol of his most splendid creation, the great light of day."

The two Saints John have been chosen as the patron Saints of Masonry because they most clearly typify and exemplify the teachings and mission of the fraternity. One was a prophet pointing to the light, whose mission was to prepare the way and lay the foundation for the work of the One who was to be the Light of the World. The other was to become the Apostle of love and to continue the work of his great Master.

The great object of Masonry is the attainment of light and the proper application of the principles of brotherly love. Therefore, these two Apostles are fittingly represented by the two perpendicular parallel lines which touch the circle on which rests the book of Holy Scriptures. One represents those who are seeking the light. The other is the teacher of those who found it.

The invincible fidelity of the Baptist reminds us of the Masonic hero who gave up his life rather than forfeit his integrity. As Bro. B.W. Bryant says, his baptism is the symbol of the "cleansing of the heart from the dross of selfishness and vice, and the spiritual initiation of the soul into the knowledge of the light" and is very appropriately coincides with the summer solstice, when all visible nature is at the zenith of life, light, and joy.

On the other hand, the festival of the Evangelist, who is so fortunately represented as a man in the winter and wisdom of life; who so insistently proclaimed the gospel of brotherly love; and whose writings teem with allegories of the mystical initiation into the secrets that lie beyond the veil of material vision, is very properly assigned to that period of the year when life has reached its full maturity and seems about to depart from the earth. Considering all this he too becomes worthy and appropriate figure for Masonic recognition.

"We therefore find these two figures, so peculiarly and even mysteriously connected with Masonry, that broad symbolism which admits of universal interpretation and appreciation. It is truly in harmony with the spirit of "that religion in which all men agree' and is therefore really Masonic. Their festivals falling upon the two extremes of the year well represent the cycle of nature and of human life, and thereby give us a key to the whole philosophy of Masonry. Though of Christian derivation, their Masonic interpretation carries the same lesson for the Jew and the Theist, as for the Christian brother. They tell of the eternal cycle of existence, of manifestation and disappearance, of activity and repose, which is the eternal and immutable law of God, and which is so fittingly expressed in our familiar phrase: 'From labor to refreshment and from refreshment to labor again'."
